WHAT IS IT?

“Vertimax”

It has proven to be the most effective tool ever designed for developing maximum power in the vertical jump for explosive performance in the athlete. The Vertimax is used to condition athletes in every major sport and delivers a tremendous result:

“Vertical Sand Training”

If you perform your vertical jump training on the sand you will quickly notice how tired your legs get. This is because they must recruit so many more muscle fibers in order to jump. Regular training with this technique makes your muscle accustomed to firing off all those extra fibers so that when you jump on a harder surface such as a basketball or volleyball court, you not only regain the benefit of the plyometric response, but also the ability to recruit more muscle fibers.
